

Readings in Literature – honors

Summer reading 2018 (for academic year 2018 – 2019)

Read one of the following three books to ensure a B for your summer reading. Read any two of the following three books, or read one of the three books below & another book by one of the three writers (Elizabeth Strout, Rachel Kushner, Walter Mosley), to ensure an A for your summer reading.

My Name Is Lucy Barton, Elizabeth Strout

Telex from Cuba, Rachel Kushner

The Last Days of Ptolemy Grey, Walter Mosley

Additional book possibilities: The Flame Throwers (Kushner), The Mars Room (Kushner), Olive Kitteridge (Strout), any of Walter Mosley's detective/mystery/crime books.

Advice/recommendation: Google the books & read about them. Amazon will tell you stuff about the books & the writers. Wikipedia will also tell you stuff about the books & the writers. There's a lot of easy-to-get information out there on these books & writers. Do a little research & make a choice on which book(s) you want to read. (Telex from Cuba may be the harder book to find.)

Early in the school year you'll be asked to write & talk about the book(s) you choose to read this summer.

To summarize: for grade of B, must read one book from #2 above; for grade of A, must read one book from #2 above & one other book written by one of the three writers (Elizabeth Strout, Rachel Kushner, Walter Mosley) mentioned here in this assignment. You could read two books from #2 above to ensure an A for your summer reading.

Thanks a lot. Any questions you can call or e-mail Mike Powers (612 616 1825, mpowers@c-dh.org) or Terence Sinclair-Wood (tsinclair-wood@c-dh.org).

Friday, June 1, 2018